HONGKONG, MAY 9th, 1914.

THE necessity for a public discussion of such a matter as the sufficiency of the nursing staff at the Government Civil Hospital is greatly to be regretted, because of the weakening effect it must have on public confidence in the Hospital unless the outcome of that discussion is the immediate remedy of whatever causes of complaint may exist. It is not to be thought for one moment that the Unofficial Members of the Council would take the extreme step of asking for the appointment of five Unofficial Justices of the Peace as Commissioners "for the purpose of instituting, making and conducting an enquiry as to the sufficiency in numbers, efficiency, and organisation of the Nursing Staff at the Government Hospitals and as to their terms of service, pay, and allowances," unless they were well assured that good cause for complaint exists. We have ourselves from time to time during the past twelve months heard much gossip on the subject, and on more than one occasion the matter has been mentioned in the columns of this paper with a view to directing the attention of the authorities to the subject. Seven months ago the Unofficial Members of Council asked for such a Committee of inquiry, but on the Officer Administering the Government expressing his sympathy and promising that the subject would receive consideration during the ensuing year, the appointment of a Committee was not pressed. It appears from the information given to the Council yesterday that the matter, even before that time, had been under the consideration of His EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR.

The Sisters of the Hospital had taken what the Hon. Mr. POLLOCK described as the strong and most unusual step of petitioning for an increase in their number, giving definite reasons for their request, and that request was endorsed by the Superintendent of the Hospital and the Principal Civil Medical Officer.
His EXCELLENCY, however, decided that the need which existed would be sufficiently met by engaging locally two probationers, instead of sending Home for two qualified trained nurses. On the facts, so far as they are disclosed in the Council proceedings, it is impossible not to recognise that His EXCELLENCY's decision was not made without what seems, prima facie, good enough reasons, viz., that "there has been no great increase of cases treated in the hospitals; no extensions to the hospitals of any material size; nothing to indicate why suddenly in the middle of the year 1913 it is considered necessary to increase the staff of the hospitals." So that even two additional probationers must have been very grudgingly sanctioned by His EXCELLENCY. On the other hand, the Hon. Mr. POLLOCK, in his speech, spoke of a petition having been sent in to the Government by the Sisters setting forth very definite reasons for an increased nursing staff, and as, in the words of Mr.
POLLOCK, the Government has thought fit to withhold those reasons from the cognisance of the Council and the outside public, it follows that the outside public is placed at a disadvantage in forming an opinion on the subject. What is clear is that after a lapse of eight or nine months the Government has asked the sanction of the SECRETARY OF STATE for an increase of three Sisters, whereas the request from the Hospital Staff last year was for two, so that—notwithstanding that "there has been no great increase of cases treated in the hospitals; no extensions to the hospitals of any material size; and nothing to indicate why suddenly it is considered necessary to increase the staff of the hospitals"—the Government has actually arrived at the conclusion, after closer investigation, that it is necessary to increase the staff by three, "pending further investigation of the disposition of the staff." These Sisters presumably will not be coming out from England on agreements for less than three years. It does not seem to require as many days to "investigate the disposition of the staff," so that when this increase of three has been made to the staff, we may take it that the complaints as to the insufficiency of the staff will have been remedied. It is to be gathered from His EXCELLENCY's speech that the trouble has arisen owing to the fact that no provision is made for absences during leave and owing to the dearth of young women locally who are prepared to go into the hospitals as probationers. The general policy of the Government not to supply extra members for filling vacancies caused through members of the staff being on leave is a policy which scarcely seems applicable to a hospital. In some Government departments work can often be postponed for a day, a week, or a month without great inconvenience, but in a hospital that is not possible. The staff may be "absolutely adequate" when all are available, but when some are on leave and others are laid aside by serious illness, as was the case last year, it is not incomprehensible that the Nursing Staff should have a grievance or that hospital patients, present or prospective, should feel somewhat apprehensive.
We think it a pity that the Government did not see its way to accept the Hon. Mr.
POLLOCK's resolution, seeing that it was supported by all the Unofficial Members of Council present, and defeated only by the sheer weight of the Official Majority, without a single reason being advanced for their opposition. However, it makes for the preservation of public confidence in the Government Hospitals to know that the main purpose of the motion has been accomplished in that the Government has asked the SECRETARY OF STATE to sanction the addition of three fully trained nurses to the staff.

Mr. George Anderson, the United States Consul-General, is leaving for the United States on the 13th inst. by the Empress of Russia. Mr. Anderson is going home partly on official business and expects to return to Hongkong in September.

The Bishop of Victoria will to-morrow (Sunday) officiate at St. Peter's Church, West Point, at 8 a.m. and at 11 a.m.

An express from Canton on Tuesday knocked down and killed a Chinese woman at the railway crossing near Fanling village.

Mr. E. M. Bishop, sub-accountant in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank at Shanghai is a passenger by the Assaye.
Mr. Bishop is proceeding Home on leave.

A Chinese cook on the Siberia was charged by Inspector Gordon with being in unlawful possession of 300 rounds of ammunition. He was fined $150 by the Magistrate.

Contrary to previous arrangements, the Hippodrome Circus and Menagerie, advertised elsewhere, will not open until Monday evening. It was at first intended to commence the performances this evening, but the Company will not arrive in the Colony until to-day.

Dr. W. Crull, who during the absence of Dr. Voretzsch on leave, has been in charge of the German Consulate at Hongkong, is departing this morning for Home on leave, travelling via the United States. He proceeds to San Francisco on the Pacific Mail steamer Korea.

At a meeting of the Hongkong Licensing Board yesterday afternoon the adjoined application of Frederick Elliot Armstrong Martin for a publican's license for the Belle View Hotel was further considered. After full consideration the application was unanimously granted.

Mr. J. M. Beck, Superintendent in Hongkong of the Eastern Extension, Australia and China Telegraph Co., Ltd., leaves to-day by the English mail steamer Assaye for Home, on leave. Mr.
B. W. Elwes has assumed charge of the Company's interests in Hongkong during Mr. Beck's absence.

Over 450 men and women in the West Point district were summoned by Inspector Dymond at the Magistracy yesterday for exploding fireworks in a prohibited area, to "drive off the devils creating the plague." The First Court was absolutely crowded with the defendants, the majority of whom paid their $1 fines without demur.

That the first day's racing at the Shanghai Spring meeting was attended with several surprises seems to be evident from some of the dividends paid. The winning pony in the Pou-ma-tung Cup, Skidoo, paid $1,377 for a winner, which is thought to be a record for Shanghai.
The winner of the Kiangsu Cup also paid $684.90 to those who backed it for a win.

There was some excitement on the 8.15 ferry to Kowloon from Hongkong on Thursday night. When the ferry was near the middle of the fairway an unknown Chinese passenger fell overboard, and was drowned. Everything possible was done by the ferry to pick the man up, buoys being thrown over, and the launch put astern, but the body was not recovered.

Chinese merchants and others assembled at the Palace Hotel at Shanghai on the occasion of a farewell reception to Mr.
A. W. U. Pope, the late General Manager of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway. Mr.
Pope was presented with an inscribed scroll by the Chinkiang Chamber of Commerce, and he was also handed a gold medal from the Shanghai, Soochow, Wusich, Chinkiang, and Nanking Chambers of Commerce.

We have received from the Secretary of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce a copy of a letter received from the Consul-General for Netherlands-India on 23rd ult., abolishing quarantine restrictions imposed on Hongkong by Netherlands-India on 17th April, 1912, and copy of a further letter dated 8th inst., which rescinds the order of 23rd ult., and brings the restrictions of 17th April, 1912, again into operation, a case of plague having in the meantime occurred on board a vessel after arrival in a Netherland-Indian port from Hongkong.

MYSTERIOUS FATE OF A CHINESE.

STRANGLED AND THROWN INTO THE HARBOUR.

The Water Police recovered from the Harbour yesterday the body of a well-built Chinese male person, aged apparently about 40 years. The body, which was found floating near the Harbour Office, was slightly decomposed. A piece of rope was tied tightly round the neck, and the feet were also tied together.
It appeared that the man had first been strangled, and then thrown into the Harbour.

NATIONALIST LEADER AND SUPPORTED CONVERSATIONS.

LONDON, May 8th.

Mr. John Redmond, M.P., the leader of the Nationalists, states that so far as he knows the conversations between the party leaders have not been renewed. He denies that he consulted with Mr. Asquith with reference to the new concessions, and says that the position of the Irish Party regarding the concessions has not changed since the Second Reading of the Home Rule Bill. He is confident that the Bill will be sent to the House of Lords in its present shape before the Whitsuntide recess.

PERSISTENT RUMOURS.

The papers assert that Mr. Asquith saw Mr. Bonar Law yesterday, and that the Premier subsequently saw Mr. Redmond, and also Messrs. Devlin and Dillon.

A deputation of "Die-hard" Unionists waited on Mr. Bonar Law yesterday to protest against concessions.

THE DISASTER TO THE
"COLUMBIAN."

BOSTON, May 8th.

The survivors of the disaster to the British steamer Columbian have arrived on the Franceville. All of them show signs of exposure, and many are disfigured by burns. The wireless operator on board the vessel states that he was awakened by an explosion, and found the vessel aflame. He was of opinion that it was caused through spontaneous combustion in a cargo of rags. A hole was knocked in his boat as it was being hurriedly lowered, and the men had to keep bailing out for 40 hours.

FOREIGN FOMENTERS OF

FRENCH TO BE EXPELLED FROM ALSACE.

PARIS, May 8th.

The city is disquieted by the receipt of a report that French residents in Alsace-Lorraine have been notified that their permits of residence will not be renewed at the end of the year, which is equivalent to expulsion. Though the report is officially denied at Strassbourg, German papers hint at the possibility of steps being taken to gradually exclude "foreign fomenters of trouble."

THE DEVELOPMENT OF KIAOCHOW.

THE RECENT DISCUSSION IN THE REICHSTAG.

In amplification of the telegraphic summaries of the discussions on Kiaochow in the Reichstag, we quote the following report from a London contemporary:
In the German Reichstag, the Budget Committee recommended the usual votes in the case of Kiaochow, and in addition a resolution to the effect that the Chancellor be asked to insert in the "next estimates for Kiaochow a new item under the following heading:—"For the propagation of the German language and the furthering of private schools for Chinese scholars." This was agreed to without any discussion taking place.

During the debate on the ordinary votes, Herr Naecken said that the development of Kiaochow was healthy, and there was every reason to expect further advancement in German enterprise.
However, the educational facilities in China were not good, and America and Great Britain were ahead of them in the work of founding schools. He then went on to state the sums that it was proposed to spend in that direction, and expressed the opinion that a foreign high school should be established, preferably in Berlin.

Admiral von Tirpitz, Secretary of State for the Navy, observed that it had been evident from the first that the Colony afforded a great opportunity for German enterprise, but the extent of the development which presented itself and the fact that he had before his eyes warning examples in the slow development of Hongkong and the partial failure of several Chinese ports. Therefore they had always gone forward cautiously.
Their relations with China and the Chinese authorities had always been good, and were still the same. The speaker went on to refer to the advantages accruing from the new proposals to strengthen the steamship services with Tsingtau. Under German administration, he said, the trade of Tsingtau had expanded enormously, and between the years 1901 and 1911 had increased tenfold.
He greeted with pleasure the proposal to further develop the middle schools for Chinese in Tsingtau. It was exceptionally important to prepare the ground for the great possibilities that stood before them in the East, and it was suggested that they should do that through the erection of a foreign high school, but he would add that it should not be a question of whether such a high school be established in Prussia or in Hamburg, but whether several schools should be established in Prussia as well as in Berlin and also in Hamburg.

Dr. Paasche remarked that Kiaochow was becoming more and more what they had from the first striven to make it—a centre from which German influence in the East might be spread. Its development had been quite unusual, and the strides made could be judged from the fact that the port of Tsingtau was now preparing to enter into keen competition with Hongkong.
The various votes were agreed to.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

The local yarn market is described by Messrs. Polishwalla & Kotwall as "hopelessly depressed and discouraging." The sales of Indian yarn during the past fortnight have amounted to the insignificant total of 300 bales, while unsold stocks amount to 38,000, while the quantity "sold and undelivered in the godown and to arrive" is 33,000 bales. About 1,000 bales of Japanese yarn have been "sold to arrive." The Shanghai market is stated to be in the same depressed state as the Hongkong market.

HONGKONG'S WATER RECORD.

During the month of April the total storage of gallons, in millions and decimals, for the City and Hill district was 121.71, as compared with 145.11 in the corresponding period last year. The consumption of water in this district during the same month was 130.02 million gallons; this by a population of 267,118, making an average of 18.9 gallons per month per head. In April, 1913, 100.43 gallons were consumed by 253,519 people, giving an individual average consumption of 13.2 gallons. In the Kowloon gravitation reservoir the total storage was 261.50 million gallons, against 177.31 in the same month last year. The month's consumption in the district was 35.30 million gallons for a population of 64,400, making an average individual consumption of 12.4 gallons. In April, 1913, the total consumed by 92,600 people was 29.54 million gallons, or an individual average consumption of 10.6 gallons. The Government Analyst reports that the water is of excellent quality.

With regard to the increased consumption in the City and Hill district it should be mentioned that the services to houses in the rider main districts were disconnected during April, 1913, from the rider mains, and the supply was given by public fountains only. There was an intermittent supply by the rider mains in the rider main districts up till April 28th, and the services to houses in the rider main districts were disconnected from the rider mains and the supply given by public fountains only from April 29th, 1914. The below overflow records in feet and inches at the island reservoirs for April were as follows:—Tytam 40-7, Tytam byewash 23-0, Tytam intermediate 57-0, Pokfulam 25-2, and Wong-wei-chong 31-2. In April, 1913, they were 50-5, 23-3, 43-3, 21-0 and 34-8 respectively. In the Kowloon gravitation reservoir the below overflow was 9-5 last month, as against 19.11 in the same month of the preceding year.

THE "SIBERIA" SCARE.

The Cardiganshire, which arrived in Shanghai a few days ago, sheds a great deal of light on the mysterious report that the Siberia had gone ashore, which would seem to dispose satisfactorily of the fears that another vessel had been mistaken for the Siberia. Captain Warner, the commander of the Cardiganshire, stated that the wireless operator on his ship received a message from the Osezaki Station on the 1st May reporting that the Siberia had gone ashore. He was 900 miles away at the time, so it was useless to proceed to her assistance. A few hours afterwards, however, another message was received from the Osezaki Station stating that the previous signal of "S.O.S." had been found to be an error, no ship having sent this message, and another message having been mistaken for it.

We take the following from a Manila contemporary:—Wireless operator Callahan of the Siberia told a Cablenews-American reporter that he believed some ship mistook the Persia for the "S.O.S." signal. The Persia uses "M.B.S." as her call, while the Siberia is registered with "W.W.U." "M.B.S." when repeated quickly could be mistaken for "S.O.S.", especially when the atmospheric conditions are bad, as they have been all the way down from Japan.

"I did not talk to any ship named the Bingo Maru," said wireless operator Callahan, "and, according to our log, the other operator did not. We were talking nearly continuously with the Persia on Thursday night and Friday morning. The 'static' was bad and we had trouble in getting results from any great distance. Two or three times I could detect operators cutting in, but could not make out what they wanted. On one occasion one steamer asked for our position, but I could not learn their name."

At 7 p.m. on Friday night, the Yarmouth asked for our position. "I gave that, but could not converse with the Yarmouth further. About 5 a.m. Saturday morning," continued Callahan, "I picked up Olongapo and that was our first knowledge that we had been reported as distressed. Cavite and the Galveston quickly got in touch after that, and to all we answered that we were safe and on time."

"I do not know whether it was the Bingo Maru that gave out the information that we were signalling distress. However, the only cause I can give for any ship or station picking up that signal is the fact that they misinterpreted the Persia's call."

THE OUTBREAK IN YUNNAN.

TUTUH'S PROMPT ACTION QUASHES THE REBELLION

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

YUNNANFU, April 28th. From further information to hand it appears that the prompt despatch of troops from the capital southwards has been successful for the time being in quashing the outbreak in the Ling An Prefecture. The 2,000 or so troops despatched by special trains on the two days following the rebellion arrived at Amichow at 2 p.m. A thousand split up into two parties and took the Lingnan Road at 4 a.m. and by forced marching reached the barracks which had been deserted by the mutinous troops in the early hours of the morning. A severe engagement took place lasting some two hours, and both sides lost heavily, some three hundred soldiers on both sides being killed and wounded. The fight ended in the rebel troops taking to the hills with their loot, rifles and ammunition, and the loyal troops are now guarding the city from further looting on the part of the Kachiu miners.

A mountain battery comprising some 300 men were, however, surprised by the retreating rebels at Che Kai and were captured, all their rifles, ammunition and even their clothing being taken away. The other party of 1,000, which had taken the Mengze-Lingnan Road, however, fortunately arrived on the scene in time to prevent the rebels from getting away with the battery. The ambushed soldiers, however, were sent back by special train the same day for re-equipment.

Five hundred soldiers have now reached Kachiu and have prevented further looting by the miners, and everything is now quiet. The rebellious troops at Hoku have left after looting, and the place has resumed its normal tranquillity.

It appears that only about 500 of the 1,000 troops stationed at Lingnan took part in the outbreak, but the officers of the neutral party all left for Tongkin, fearing punishment for not being able to stop the looting.

Two days before the outbreak the new Fu Tien Bank had received $200,000 and the whole of this amount was looted by the rebels. It was after they had cleared out that the Kachiu miners came in and looted the shops, killing and burning. The soldiers really took no part in this latter procedure, evidently being satisfied with the spoils from the Bank and the Treasury.

There is no doubt but that these 500 soldiers who have been dispersed to the mountains with their arms and ammunition will for a long time be a menace to the neighbourhood between Lingnan and Tunchai, at which latter town—some five days from Yunnanfu—great uneasiness is felt by the inhabitants. It is to be hoped that these soldiers will be followed up, but the mountainous nature of this district renders operations against them extremely difficult and the Tunchai Road will be very dangerous for some time to come.

No news is to hand from the Kaihua Prefecture, and it is presumed that the soldiers have deemed it advisable to clear off with their loot.

Tutuh Tang is to be congratulated on his successful quelling of what at first appeared to be a very serious outbreak.

EUROPEAN QUARTERMASTER SENT TO PRISON.

At the Magistracy yesterday a man named Joseph Blackwell, described as the quartermaster on board the Blue Funnel liner Ision, was charged with the larceny of various articles of ware, cloth, and merchandise, worth $830 in all, from the Ision on divers dates between the 4th and 7th inst.

Mr. Lewis (of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes & Master), who prosecuted, told his Worship that he had been asked to request that the case be dealt with summarily, but although he asked his Worship to deal with it in that manner, he would ask him to deal with it as severely as lay in his power, on account not only of the gravity of the offence, but also in view of the fact that the defendant occupied a position of trust. One of his duties as quartermaster was the guarding of the cargo, and the prevention of theft. The pursuer had reason to believe that a box containing china, which was being sent out as a wedding present to the Puget Sound, was being tampered with, and when the ship was at Manila the pursuer examined the box in the hold and saw that it was broken. He extracted one saucer for the purpose of identification, and had the case remanded. On arriving in Hongkong on Thursday the pursuer found that the box had gone. A search warrant was obtained, and Sergeant Clarke went on board, and found various articles produced in the quartermaster's cabin. The bulk of the articles were found in a bunk in his cabin, and the defendant immediately took the responsibility for them, and said that he alone was to blame. He showed also how articles had been secreted in the bulkhead between the wood and the iron plating in the cabin. Defendant had been employed by the Company for six years.

In reply to his Worship, defendant said he did not sign on as quartermaster, but as an able-seaman, and therefore the others had just as much responsibility as himself.

Mr. Lewis added that on the way to the Police Station defendant admitted that he could dispose of the property either in Hongkong or Japan.

His Worship sentenced the man to three months imprisonment.

HOME AND CHINA AFFAIRS.

LONDON, April 14th. EASTER HOLIDAYS.

On the whole, the Easter holidays in England have been spent in pleasant weather, though all the previous month was unsettled and disagreeable in the extreme. The result has been a tremendous exodus from town, and the seaside resorts must have started well. Football matches attracted spectators by the hundreds of thousands, while every year seems to carry the development of golf clubs further. It is some proof of the general prosperity and activity of trade that so many can expend considerable sums on amusements and change of scene whenever the season comes round and they hear Spring calling them to the seaside or the country. There must be something in what Sir William Lever, of Sunlight fame, said at a meeting the other night at which I was present. He was fresh from the Far East and other sections of his world tour and he declared he was more than ever convinced that while more could be earned in other countries, in some cases, still, taking expenditure also into account, England took a lot of beating as a place to live in.

CHEQUES AS SOUVENIRS.

There are some who do not need all they have, apparently. The late Lord Strathcona, for example, though a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, never cashed the cheques that came to him as director's fees. But it must have been the Scotch strain in him that gave a practical touch to his hobby of keeping them as souvenirs. He carefully docketed them in the same pigeon-hole for thirty-two years, and his executors, who came upon them the other day, are now going to present them for payment.

THE FRENCH LOAN TO CHINA.

Financial circles here are taking the greatest interest in the French loan to China, and many are the criticisms of the terms of it, the security afforded, and the evasions direct or implied in securing it. I met one of the best-informed Anglo-Oriental authorities the other day and taxed him on the prospects of a loan in England, apart from the Quintuple Group. He shook his head decisively. "There is no ghost of a chance for such a loan," he said, "under present conditions. Yuan Shih-kai will probably meet his death at the hands of an assassin; sooner or later there will be a further revolution, without a doubt, and it is almost certain that in that revolution foreign life and foreign interests will not be so carefully respected as last time, for that former restraint has not been too well rewarded in the intriguing for concessions and financial advantages at the expense of China since then. China is not yet settled down, but I still hold that when she does get into her stride on the path of commercial progress and achieves a greater measure of financial independence and administrative purity, the country will afford the finest market in the world and the people will prove themselves a wonderful race, worthy of the respect of all the world."

"THE OUTLITTERS."

Now that the Asiatic section of the British Museum, with its priceless treasures of Oriental China, has been successfully raided by the destructive maniacs who describe themselves as "militant suffragettes," and Mrs. "General" Drummond has thrown things from the dock at the magistracy, whom she described as "You old Jack in the Box," it is not surprising to hear that public nervousness has spread across the ocean and the Morgan collection in New York is under special guards. But there is a pathetic side to all their bravado. I wonder if I have mentioned before a little experience I had on the South coast. I happened to mention to a fisherman that Mrs. Drummond and Mrs. Pankhurst were in the district and he grinned broadly on the mention of their names. Then he took his pipe out of his mouth in the leisurely manner of his kind and said, "If you will come round here I will show you something." I went with him round the corner, and there, at the back of a cottage,

I saw a wizened little man with a timid expression, putting out clothes on the line. "That," said the fisherman, "is Mr. Drummond." I don't know the gentleman, so I can't vouch for the identification, but the story seems too good to die.

HOME RULE.

Home Rule! I wonder if anybody in the East is as tired of the subject as the average man is at home. And yet the topsyturvydom of Irish affairs still has enough oddity in it to make a cat laugh. For example, down in the South the followers of William O'Brien and Tim Healy are, though thoroughly Nationalist, all the same in sympathy with the men of Ulster, largely because the latter are now "agin' the Government." Why, some of the Nationalists down there were cheering Ulster the other day, and it has been predicted by one whimsical Irishman that if it came to fighting in Ulster these Nationalists would flock to Ulster to help the men who have declined to associate with them. That may be far fetched, but there is nevertheless enough contradiction in Irish politics to turn the mind of the average Anglo-Saxon, poor, plain-minded man. Another curious thing is that in many parts of Ireland Home Rule is rarely mentioned, so little does it excite the people. An enthusiastic angler who was hailed by a friend on Paddington station the other day declared his intentions in the words, "Oh, I'm off to Ireland for some fishing, and to get clear of the talk about Home Rule."

I am told that when the crisis was at its height Lord Roberts had in his pocket a list of nine hundred officers whose sympathies were with Ulster and were ready to send in their papers. It is also said that one whole regiment, recruited in the South of Ireland, were ready to refuse duty if ordered to fire on the men of Ulster. Nevertheless, the results of the squabble are not yet over. It is stated with every show of reason that the trade unionists are spreading with might and main the argument that after this troops cannot be used against strikers. Round about cities like Leeds there is a remarkable amount of discontent just now, the railwaymen and other transport workers threaten a general strike, some of the miners are already idle, and there are the rumblings of a big labour struggle to come. How will Mr. John Burns, President of the Board of Trade, and former labour agitator, handle the problems of his department if such a situation arises? Conciliation is not in the air just now, so the pacificatory efforts of Sir George Asquith will probably not meet with such success as in the past. And the trade unionists don't love "honest John" any more, so they won't be anxious to agree to anything calculated to add to his laurels.

NAVAL SENATION EXPECTED.

Very likely Mr. Winston Churchill will be the next Minister to raise a flutter in the dovecotes. I hear he is to carry his policy further of clearing out senior officers who would not be employed in case of an outbreak of war. There is talk of increasing the Naval List, but if this is not done it will certainly be found that a stimulus will be given to promotions that has been absent for many years, for the stagnation that has held back captains, commanders and lieutenants has long been the subject of almost despairing talk in naval circles. This is a result of the personal investigation by the First Lord into the conditions of the service, and it is one of many reasons why naval men are beginning to speak well of him and of his régime at the Admiralty. Admiral Sir Percy Scott, who so suddenly remarried the other day, is one of these warm admirers and goes out of his way to make it evident.

PURCHASE OF A CHINESE WARSHIP.

From the latest Times message from Greece it would appear that China's dream of a resuscitated navy is not to be accomplished yet awhile. This message indicates that Greece is willing to evacuate Epirus on the demand of the Powers, and thus avoid the latest crisis in the Near East, and then it adds:—"The Minister of Marine has signed a contract for the purchase of a cruiser of 2,600 tons and a speed of 22 knots, armed with two 6 inch and four 4 inch guns of British manufacture, which is being built in America to the order of the Chinese Government."

THE BUSH BANKRUPTCY CASE.

On 8th ult., at the London Bankruptcy Court, an application was made to Mr. Registrar Hope for approval to a scheme of arrangement under the failure of Mr. Henry Adolph Bush, company promoter, Criterion Restaurant, Piccadilly-circus, W. Mr. W. G. Williams, Official Receiver, reported that the applicant had obtained an order of the Court to expunge proofs of debt amounting to £45,000, and the provable debts now did not exceed £1,630. He had returned assets to the value of £25,000 alleged to be due from three insurance companies on whose behalf he had, whilst acting as their agent in China, paid fire claims which were not admitted by the said companies, and so far as the Official Receiver could judge, it would be practically impossible for a trustee in bankruptcy to realise them. The debtor had carried on business in China and Japan, and returned to this country in June, 1911. He attributed his appearance at the Court to delay in obtaining payment of his claims against the insurance companies, and to his inability to dispose of certain mining concessions in Southern Manchuria, owing to change in the form of government there. His Honour, in sanctioning the scheme, said it was a curiously complicated case, but he agreed with the Official Receiver that the arrangement was undoubtedly framed in the interests of the creditors.

Neuralgia, Nervous Breakdown —

NURSE HALL, c/o Mrs. Bassett, Commercial Place, Landport, Portsmouth, Eng., writes:—"I was suffering from nervous breakdown with Internal Neuralgia, when I began a course of Phosferine. After having taken it for three or four months, I felt better than I had done for two years previously, and consider it the best tonic I have ever tried. As a remedy for all nervous disorders I think there is nothing to equal Phosferine, especially as I was given up by more than one doctor previous to taking Phosferine, and can now say I am perfectly well and strong, and have taken nothing else."

No other medicine has received such absolute proof of its extraordinary properties in restoring shattered constitutions, and in giving back to the prematurely aged New Life and Energy.

- 29 Marine stores.
- 316 Money-changers.
- 240 Spirit (Chinese, Old Territories).
- 78 Spirit (Chinese, New Territories).

During 1913 a Proclamation was in force prohibiting the export of warlike stores from the Colony. The following arms and ammunition were confiscated during last year, viz.:—144 Winchester rifles, 187 automatic pistols, 168 revolvers, 140,749 rounds ammunition, 10 daggers, 3 swords, 7 relling tools, 38 magazines, 10 bayonets, 2 knuckle dusters, 6 shot guns, 173 shot ammunition, 4,867 empty cylinders, 20 rifles incomplete, 1 mauser rifle, 1 H.M. rifle, 13 Swiss rifles, 8 muskets, 1 two-barrelled pistol, 364 boxes primers, 1,524 boxes percussion caps, 100 blank ammunition, 1,131 sticks dynamite, 1 stick cheddite, 699 detonators, 251 bags saltpetre, 1 bag sulphur, 20 lbs. shot, 5 Winchester barrels, 4 breech blocks, 12 butts, 10 springs, 1 machine gun and mounting, small quantity of powder, fuse and gun-cotton and a quantity of leather equipment.

By the finger-print method 456 persons were identified as having previous convictions against them. This number is 45 less than during the year 1912. Of these 121 were those of criminals who had returned from banishment.

Forty-eight mendicants were arrested and taken before the Magistrate, while 192 of the fraternity were despatched to Canton. Eight men came back to the Colony after being deported, two had to be sent back twice, while one incorrigible made the journey four times.

The canine population of Hongkong appears to be gradually swelling. Last year there was again a considerable increase, 1,925 being licensed. Watch dogs, to the number of 137, which were licensed free, are not included amongst these "licensed" dogs. Twelve animals were destroyed, 64 which were wandering without "visible means of subsistence, and of no fixed abode, were impounded, and 72 were sent to the Dogs' Home.

The conduct of the European and Indian contingents is described as "good," and that of the Chinese "fair." This is stated to be an improvement. Among the 440 reports against Indian police, 35 were for gossiping and idling on duty—a considerable improvement on the previous year, when there were 97 reports for these offences. In the Chinese section, no one was reported for drunkenness, but 17 were "paraded" before their superiors for somnolency on duty.

There is a long list of policemen who were either rewarded or commended for pluck and meritorious conduct, nearly all of whom were Indian and Chinese.

The extent to which the practice prevails among Chinese of throwing dead bodies into the sea to save burial expenses is indicated by the fact that last year the police recovered 402 bodies from the sea.

The total strength of the Force at the end of 1913 was 1,154, composed of 159 Europeans, 435 Indians, and 560 Chinese. With those absent on leave, the total strength was 1,223.

A DANGER SPOT FOR NEW CHINA. STUDENTS AT TOKYO.

Following is a letter to The Times by the Bishop of South Tokyo referred to in a Reuter's telegram three weeks ago:—

Sir,—Tokyo is at the present time a centre of considerable importance to the future of China by reason of the presence in it of some 5,000 Chinese students, whose existence is of much more than private interest not only because of the predominant part which in New China the young men who have been educated abroad are bound to play, but because they are mostly sent here for that very reason by their provincial Governments. Of all this the Chinese authorities are quite well aware, and there are plenty of spies about as well as students. Certainly there is cause for anxiety, for, apart from general conditions which tend elsewhere to make student bodies a centre of revolution, there are now in Tokyo and the vicinity political refugees more or less violently disaffected to the number of perhaps 700.

This student body counts for a good deal more per head than the average indigenous student of, say, Russia or Japan, since they are one way or another mostly picked men—some of a very high degree of ability. In politics they represent three classes: those who favour the present Government and Yuan Shih-kai; those who are revolutionarily hostile to it; and, in between these extremes, a large middle body who, though approving of the present Government, are critical of Yuan's present actions. Unhappily a policy towards these students themselves is now being pursued which, if continued, will have the disastrous effect of turning this large middle class referred to into actively hostile and embittered opponents of the Government, thus endangering the stability of affairs as well as depriving New China of their useful service.

Under this policy a number of these students are being recalled. Out of one party of 40 so recalled last year three were shot or beheaded after return—possibly with reason (a young man's indiscreet letter to a friend would be grounds for that); but such handling of students does not help the atmosphere at this end. Another body of 250 is now under recall, after having their supplies stopped for three months. In the present state of Chinese finances it would be easy to suppose that this is done on the ground of Government poverty; but this is disproved by the sending of other students from less suspected provinces, and political discrimination of a suspicious sort is too plain to leave doubt in the students' own minds. It is impossible to ruin a young man's student career and even out of his daily bread without dangerously affecting his political opinions. This, unfortunately, is what is being done under our eyes in Tokyo to numbers of quite respectable and really affected students whom China after the Revolution sent to Japan and whom Yuan's governors are now, most unwisely for their own interests, starving or recalling. Such alarmist policy cannot expurgate the student ranks of disaffection, much less disinfest the atmosphere of Tokyo as a nursery for them. What it does do is to turn the indifferent or well-disposed into anti-Government revolutionaries.

Inasmuch as the stability and unity of China is of political interest to England, and as her hope in the pick of her young men is, it may be assumed, a thing of interest on common human grounds to your readers, I have ventured to use your columns to call attention to a remediable situation in which I have no direct or personal interest, but which only persons in Tokyo who have some point of contact with the Chinese student body are in a position to observe and report.

Cecil, Bishop in South Tokyo.

MALARIA.

ITS MEANING—ITS CAUSE—AND ITS CURE.

When Malaria (Mala-aria, bad air) was given its name scientists knew less about it than they do now, otherwise they would have christened it differently.

Then the mosquito had a better character than he has to-day, when he is known as the carrier of the malarial germ, as being in fact chiefly, if not solely, responsible for the existence of this disease.

So long as there are mosquitoes so long will they continue to spread the malarial poison.
And once this poison gets into the blood it is only through the blood that it can be eliminated.

From every malaria-infested country proof has come that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the one means by which Malaria can be speedily and thoroughly expelled. Whilst cleaning the blood the world-famous remedy creates new red corpuscles to take the place of those which the germs have destroyed, and thus restores health.
Here is one of many instances from Ceylon.

Mr. Harris Frank, Chief Storekeeper of the Ceylon Government Railway Extensions, Colombo, who here tells how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured him of Malaria.

Mr. Harris Frank, Chief Storekeeper of the Ceylon Government Railway Extensions, Colombo, says: "Six years ago Malarial Fever took hold of me. Then Physical Exercise which I had always practised no longer attracted me.
My good appetite disappeared. The Malarial attacks recurred every few days. As the weeks went by I got worse.

"Finding that the medicines I was taking were doing me no good I gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Within a few days I was greatly surprised to find that these Pills were bringing about a marked change for the better in my health. I began to feel brighter, my appetite returned, my nights became restful.
In the end Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought me back health and strength and completely drove the Malarial Fever out of my system."

Every disease consequent upon weak or impure blood has been cured in countless cases by Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people.
Anemia, Debility, Nervous Exhaustion, Indigestion, Rheumatism, and the ailments peculiar to ladies are among the maladies they are curing every day. Obtainable everywhere, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.,

SHIPBUILDING RIVALRY.

BRITISH OPINION ON GERMAN COMPETITION.

We print below opinions from British shipbuilding centres on Herr Ballin's complaint (published in The Times) that only Germany's "money policy" keeps German shipbuilding back and that in efficiency and cheapness the German compare favourably with "the very best British performance."

It is as well to remember that the German shipbuilding industry is a comparatively young one and that the wonderful development of the German mercantile marine would never have been possible but for the work of the British shipyards. For example, the fleet of the Hamburg-America, of which Herr Ballin is managing director, consists of more than 200 ships, and, using the latest volume of Lloyd's Register, we find that of the first 30 ships of over 1,000 tons no fewer than 13 were built in British yards. The 20 ships are the first in alphabetical order, after excluding two large British-built boats, one of which has been lost since the list was compiled and one has been sold, and two small steamers, one of which was built at Kiel, while the origin of the other is not stated. There is no reason to suppose that an investigation of the origin of all the 200 ships would not show somewhat similar results, in spite of the large amount of work given in recent years by the Hamburg-America to the Hamburg firm of Blohm and Voss. We know that the German yards are now able to produce fine ships, but it is understood that many of the later orders to British yards were accompanied by a stipulation that when delivery was made the plans should be handed over. The German builders have proved themselves apt pupils; but in recent years, at any rate, their competition has not been seriously felt, for, until quite lately, the British yards, though unfavourably affected, it is true, by the workmen's attitude, have had more orders than they could see their way to execute.

Our informants, says The Times, consider that, though German competition is severe, Great Britain is still well ahead.

GLASGOW.

The general impression created among Clyde shipbuilders by Herr Ballin's remarks is that it is an attempt to advertisise and boom the German industry.
One shipbuilder who knows Herr Ballin personally stated that he believed the article to be an inspired one. He did not regard too seriously the statement about the quality of German ships, although he admitted that they turned out very good work. But whereas in Great Britain the occupation of shipbuilding was almost hereditary, generation following generation in the same trade so that the workmen acquired an instinctive ability, in Germany builders had to take their workmen from the streets and train them.

So far as prices were concerned, he declared that the Germans could not turn out the same work at the competitive prices that prevailed here. There had been a drop in the placing of orders in this country, so that better deliveries could now be given. Deliveries might be more trustworthy in German yards, which were practically standing idle now, but were practically the same in time unless he was in practical the same as the orders declared that the reason why the orders of the whole world went to Great Britain was because this country had built up a reputation for good workmanship and trustworthy vessels, such as no other country had yet been able to make.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

A Tyne shipbuilder said it was quite true that had time-keeping among workmen in English shipyards was driving orders out of the country. Moreover, the demand for skilled labour in the yards was so great that workmen could not be had. During the last depression, four or five years ago, many good craftsmen emigrated to America and the Colonies, and this had depleted the ranks of labour.
When the boom came, there was immediately a marked shortage, and this had continued ever since. Germany was selling shipyard material very cheaply in this country just now, but whether they were selling it as cheaply to householders he could not say. The German workmen worked longer hours and with greater regularity than did English workmen, and therefore it was possible they could guarantee more punctual delivery.

He believed, however, it took longer to build a ship in Germany than in this country, and the shipyards there were not sufficiently numerous to cope with all the vessels Germany needed in her mercantile marine. At the present time English yards were full of work, but it did not do for us to get too conceited about it, for many foreign countries, with Germany as the leader, were running us harder and harder every year for shipbuilding work.

LIVERPOOL.

Little interest has been aroused among Mersey-side shipbuilders by Herr Ballin's criticisms. One builder admitted that there was a certain amount of truth in Herr Ballin's statements regarding the conditions now prevailing in British dockyard, and others declined to offer any opinion.
